ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Junior Inspectors have played a critical role in the success of the Adolescent Tobacco Use Prevention Act (ATUPA) program. The ATUPA program has been running since 1997 with youth inspectors conducting over 20,000 inspections of licensed tobacco outlets across New York State under the supervision of Public Health Inspectors.

Compliance checks involve individuals under age 21 attempting to purchase tobacco or vape products to see whether stores are following the law.

- Junior Inspectors are not expected to deceive the retailer in any way.
- Junior Inspectors are supervised by a Public Health Inspector.
- Junior Inspectors do not present ID and will not conduct checks at locations where they may be known.
- Travel is provided to the compliance checks by the Public Health Inspector.
- Inspections may occur anywhere within Nassau County.

Since this program began, nearly 95% of retail outlets are now in compliance (meaning they will not sell to anyone under age 21). Becoming a Junior Inspector is a great professional opportunity and stands out on a resume!
